HP for Education

Free Proof of Concept Service to evaluate your classroom solution prior to purchase.

Well applied digital technologies can significantly enhance the learning and teaching experience. But how can you be sure that a classroom solution will support your school's strategy?

The HP Proof of Concept service is a free service that enables you evaluate solutions prior to purchase. It applies to solutions offered by participating Microsoft Service Partners.

How will a proof of concept help my school?

You can fully evaluate a solution prior to purchase reducing risk and maximising value for your school.

What type of proof of concept can I perform?

You can choose from a wide range of offerings from participating Microsoft Service Partners (MSPs).

MSP solutions encompass classroom lesson plans and resources, training for teachers, e-learning software, and on-line access to tutors to overcome resource constraints.

How do I qualify for a proof of concept?

Your school or educational establishment needs to have reached Master level status by taking rewards funds in your wallet and claiming a loyalty reward.

As a Master Level institution, you qualify for up to one proof of concept per MSP offering per calendar year.
